As a result of her husband's absence, his wife and daughter Kavya assume all responsibility for his family. A few days after their father's death, the family moves from their spacious home in Chennai to a small house, under the pretext of renting it out for a higher rent. As the family is in trouble for the lack of food, their 14-year-old daughter, Kavya, takes charge of the situation and arranges a small kitchen in a corner, where she serves food to the family. She cooks rice and other snacks, and does not refuse to cook for her father even though he has always put her down. One morning, Kavya is admitted to a hospital, having been hit by a speeding vehicle. The doctors ask Kavya who was driving the vehicle, whereupon she reveals the truth: her father. Sivaji is enraged at this revelation, and leaves his home, saying he won't allow his brother to take control of his and his family's life.
